Market Review

MSCI Asia ex Japan Index was up 5.0% in May in dollars largely on the back of easing trade tensions between US and China. The Trump Administration lowered its reciprocal tariffs rates on China from 125% to 10% for 90 days, while keeping in place its existing 20% tariff.

Taiwan was the best performing market (up 12.8% in May in dollars), driven by a strong currency and renewed AI optimism. Korea was up 7.9% in dollars, supported by strong earnings in Financials and Defence. China underperformed (up 2.8% in May in dollars) despite relief from tariff headwinds due to internal pressure from weak demand and fierce competition in certain sectors such as food delivery and autos. India market also underperformed (up 1.1% in May in dollars). Despite multiple positive factors such as a de-escalation between India and Pakistan, a pick-up in economic momentum, India-UK FTA and easing inflation, returns were capped by a lukewarm earnings season.

China's April economic data came in mixed. Retail sales improved to 5.1% YoY in April from 5.9% YoY in March. Fixed Asset Investments growth slowed to 3.6% YoY from 4.3% YoY in March. Merchandise exports moderated to 8.1% YoY in April from 12.4% in March.

India's CPI softened further in April to 3.2% YoY from 3.3% YoY in March. Industrial Production was up 2.7% YoY, higher than consensus expectations of 1.0%. Composite PMI in May rose to a 13-month high of 61.2.

Investment Strategy

The new global tariff policies announced by Trump are likely to have a negative impact on global economic growth, causing a slowdown in global trading activities, impacting consumer spending as well as dampening corporate capex intentions. Further, uncertainties surrounding the economic climate and trade are likely to translate to slowdown in capex, especially in the technology sector.

Despite the above challenges, we remain positive on Asia ex Japan Equities on a 12-month basis as two largest economies in the region are likely to provide meaningful policy support.

China is likely to further step up fiscal stimulus to support growth especially in consumption. Further, regulatory environment private sector/entrepreneurs and innovation spurt triggered by DeepSeek should provide tailwinds for Chinese equities.

India has also stepped-up monetary stimulus in a meaningful way with RBI already cutting rates by 50bps this year and is likely to cut rates by another 50bps. In addition, regulatory environment and liquidity have also turned positive and will support growth.

Valuations for Asia are also supportive as MSCI Asia ex-Japan Index is still trading at 12x forward PER which is almost 1 SD below its 5-year mean PER and is reasonable considering around 10% earnings growth expectations for the region.
