Market Review

The FTSE ST All-Share Index rose 3.0% in May. By sector, Financials, Information Technology, and Industrials were the largest contributors, while Communication Services, Real Estate, and Consumer Discretionary detracted.

Singapore's non-oil domestic exports rose 24.5% YoY in April, compared to 15.3% YoY in March. Singapore's core inflation eases to 1.4% YoY in April, lowered from 1.7% YoY in March. Industrial Production rose 17.6% YoY, accelerating from downward revised 9.2% YoY in March 2026, with electronics leading growth at 44% YoY.

Singapore equity market saw stronger liquidity in May, as Singapore Exchange's securities daily average value rose 79% YoY to S$2.4bn. Financials were boosted by strong corporate earnings and lowered rate-cut expectations. In the property market, after the Singapore government announced new housing measures for tighter executive condominium rules, URA's final Q1 2026 data showed that private residential prices increased 0.9% QoQ, with Outside Central Region (OCR) seeing 2.2% rise QoQ.

The portfolio delivered a positive return of 4.4% and outperformed benchmark by 1.4%. From a sector perspective, the key contributor to the portfolio were Financials, Industrials, and Information Technology, while Real Estate and Communication Services were the main detractors. Our overweight positions in Hong Leong Asia, UMS Integration and underweight in Yangzijiang Shipbuilding were positive contributors to performance, while our overweight positions in JustCo and MoneyMax and underweight position in DBS were detractors to performance.

Investment Strategy

We maintain our bullish outlook for Singapore equities on a 12-month basis. We believe Singapore's strong macroeconomic outlook is supportive for Singapore focused companies to see sustainable, stronger earnings. There is a wide gap of GDP growth over EPS growth, which bode well for improvements to corporate earnings outlook.

Singapore's earnings growth should improve due to low-cost pressures and with higher revenues, as Singapore benefits from the global demand/industrial boom for its high-value added outputs, especially in the technology sector. Singapore banks, the largest sector in Singapore's equity market, could see further inflows and may benefit from lowered rate-cut expectations. Singapore property sector continues to see robust domestic-driven demand.

We continue to favour companies who show a clear path towards improving shareholder returns either via capital management, monetisation of non-core assets and/or share buyback programs.
